Review

“An undergraduate text that presents a systematic survey of world cultures in a manner easily grasped by students.”

- Marilyn Wyman, San Jose State University

“It is a solid text that is appropriate for a wide survey of Non-Western art. Importantly, it is also an affordable option.”

- Kimberly Cleveland, Georgia State University

“It is well written and accessible to students at the introductory level who come from a variety of academic and cultural backgrounds.”

- Lillian Joyce, University of Alabama-Huntsville

“In content, organization, tone, and approach, Kampen-O'Reiley's Art Beyond the West remains the best of the existing publications on the subject: Survey of Non-Western Art-History.”

- Olawole Famule, University of Wisconsin-Superior

About the Author

Dr. Michael Kampen O'Riley (PhD, History of Art, University of Pennsylvania, 1969) is a Professor Emeritus, University of North Carolina.

While working as a columnist for the Charlotte Observer, he shared in a Pulitzer Prize Journalism and Public Service given to the Observer in 1981 for the Observer's columns devoted to the daily lives of their readers. He has taught at the Philadelphia University of Art; the University of Florida; Yale University; Arizona State University; the University of North Carolina Charlotte; California Polytechnic Institute Pomona; and the University of Stockholm, Sweden.

He has authored seven books, published over 300 articles in news papers and magazines, and given over 10,000 lectures and guided tours through museums and historical sites in the United States, Latin America, and Europe. He is presently living in Asheville, North Carolina and writing text books, self-help books, and novels about Native America and the visual arts.

About his work, the author says, “My work puts special emphasis on the contextual character of the visual arts. The arts have always existed in many active give-and-take or autocatalytic relationships with the world around them. The arts absorb ideas from religion, philosophy, politics, society at large, and every other area of thought; forge their own forms of visual expression, and, in turn, they influence the world around them in ways that only the visual arts can do.”

Rote Memorization

By Garland Rogers

This very dense text is so filled with facts that do not hang together in context that it is more a list than a book. Little context is given and I end up memorizing rather than understanding. Unfortunately, rote rather than thinking has become the norm in American Education, and this text fulfills that goal.

Not bad for a textbook...

By Poppygirl 81

For a textbook this is not a bad book at all. In fact, I really enjoyed reading most of the book that was assigned.
