LI'L SHAVER'S SHAVING KIT: FEATURING THE MOCK 5 BY JOHN ZICCARDI PDF

This new addition to our Kids Kits series is sure to strike close to home with all those little boys who want to be just like Daddy! In the sweet story, father and son go through their morning shaving and grooming routine-washing their faces, lathering up their beards, pulling razors across foamy cheeks, and splashing on aftershave. In the end, father and son are looking sharp when they share a sweet cheek-to-cheek, no-prickly-beard hug. The kit has huge play factor with these safe and cute components: a Mock 5 razor, shaving cream dish, applicator brush, aftershave, and soap dish. And don't forget the 16-page storybook, whose pages are all laminated to stand up to the soaping and splashing they'll surely endure from multiple readings (and shavings)!

Not worth it

By Suzie Q

This "book" and "shaving kit" is so not worth the price. The "shaver" is tiny even for the littlest hands. The "brush" is very tiny also, and the "bristles" are just a little white sponge type thing on top of a very tiny plastic handle. The tiny book's story is very lame, even for a three-year old. The boy in the book looks about 5, but the words in the book are geared towards a one-year old -- you know, very short, trite incomplete sentences. This is so not worth the money but I hesitate sending it back because I had paid $3.99 for postage as it wasn't free delivery. I did buy a great kit on Amazon called "Alex Shaving in the Tub," which was less expensive and which I highly recommend. The pieces in this kit are of very high quality and well worth the money. There's no "book," just a solid 5-piece child's shavaing kit, just like daddy's.

The quality is much better than it looks and it was a nice father/son ...

By Teba

I was so excited to come across this for my young son so he could "shave" while his dad was too. The quality is much better than it looks and it was a nice father/son bonding time

My five year old loves it

By Murph

My boys broke a previous toy razor about a year ago. I finally got around to ordering a new one and this one is great. My five year old went nuts and shaves with me at least once a week.
